

Center for East Asian Studies
University of Wisconsin-Madison

Roundtable on the North Korea Crisis

How did we reach this point?

How is the crisis affecting East Asia and international relations?

What are possible outcomes and solutions?

A free public discussion

Friday, September 22

3:00 p.m.

Room 213, Pyle Center, 702 Langdon Street

3 p.m., coffee/tea and snacks

3:30—5 p.m., comments and time for Q&A with four UW-Madison experts:

Eunsook Jung, Political Science

Charles Kim, History

Andrew Kydd, Political Science

Louise Young, History

Moderated by David Fields, Center for the Study of the American Constitution

This event is co-sponsored by the following UW-Madison units:

International Division's Center for East Asian Studies

Department of Political Science

Department of History